

CHAPTER II

INVOKING THE MUSE

Opening Up The Higher Centers For Inspiration and Vision

"Within Herself the mystery of creation [...] By Her radiance, The Universe is illumined and by it eternal consciousness is awakened"
– The Serpent Power, Arthur Avalon

Invocation

What/who/where inspires you?

Dig into your archives and fall back in love with your MUSES.

How and where can you infuse your life and your work with more of your MUSES?

Clarity on your vision: What has moved/changed/deepened your vision since the first week of THE MUSES?

Where are you feeling resistance?

Ritual

SUMMON THE MUSES

Take yourself on a MUSE date, dedicatedly entirely to your creative life! Put on your best outfit and most decadent perfume. Visit your favorite bookstore, museum or park – take yourself to the opera, the concert or the restaurant. Turn off your phone, expand your vision and bring a notebook for inspiration.

CELESTIAL CALENDAR

AN OVERVIEW OF
ASTROLOGICAL HAPPENINGS
CHAPTER II

Our second chapter is packed with energy. This chapter holds the Autumn Equinox, the entry into Libra season, a powerful Full Moon conjunct Neptune, and a new activation of the grand air trine, bringing us new visions and more expansion. While the first half of this zodiac year was marked by fire, we enter the second half through air, breathing air into the flames. This marks a period of rapid shifts and momentum, an unblocked path between our visions and actions.

SEPTEMBER 18

MERCURY OPPOSES SATURN

As Mercury moves further into Libra, it comes into opposition with Saturn in Aries. Mercury in Libra is an opening of the mind, elevating our ideas. This is a beautiful energy for writing, expressing, voicing, as Libra brings art and refinement to Mercury's language. It's a time to cast spells and write poetry. Saturn opposing Mercury gives structure to this creative energy, like the chapters of a book. Whatever project you are working on, let this transit show you the blueprint, mapping out the next steps to bring this vision into reality.

The sun entering Libra marks the Autumn Equinox, a point of perfect balance between night and day, before the sun gives way to the moon and the darker months to come in the northern hemisphere. If you're in the southern hemisphere, this is the Spring Equinox and the turning towards the light. Together with the solstices, the equinoxes make up foundational anchor points of our year. They provide us with orientation and initiate a new cardinal cycle—the creative forces of our world. As we move into Libra season, we move towards balance, towards equilibrium, like the scales.

SEPTEMBER 23

SUN ENTERS
LIBRA, SQUARING
LILITH + AUTUMN
EQUINOX

SEPTEMBER 26

FULL MOON IN
LIBRA, CONJUNCT
NEPTUNE + GRAND
AIR TRINE WITH SUN,
PLUTO, AND URANUS

As the sun moves through Libra, it builds towards a powerful Full Moon conjunct Neptune. This activation of the moon and Neptune in Aries brings us deep into our subconscious, while the direct opposition to the sun illuminates the dreams and visions we hold there. The sun also reactivates the grand air trine with Pluto and Uranus, an incredible energy for expansion and elevation of the mind. More than a release, this Full Moon feels like a transcendence, taking us deeper and higher into what can only be seen within.